

Music Development plan - PRIMARY

Developing Music in your school – a working document to support reflection on your current practice and to enable the opportunity to plan and develop the music vision for your school.

School:	Preston C of E Primary	Music lead:	Emmalia Moorhouse
Date written:	22/06/23	Review date:	22/07/25

The goals of the NPME are:

1. All children and young people receive a high-quality music education in the early years and in schools
2. All music educators work in partnership, with children and young people's needs and interests at their heart
3. All children and young people with musical interests and talents have the opportunity to progress, including professionally

What is a vision?

'The act of power of imagination.' When you apply vision to the future, you can create a mental picture that can be used to direct your actions. Vision serves as a guide and can be used to provide a sense of purpose.

Why is a vision important?

Having a vision proves to be extremely important, in a busy school environment, when you have a clear vision of what you want to happen, you can make better decisions and plan accordingly.

A Vision provides you with something to look forward to and always work towards. It links to your guiding principles and the ethos of the school.

Our Vision

Here at Preston Primary School, Music education is very highly valued and is seen as fundamental to a child's development. We aim to create an engaging curriculum which is child-centred, cross-curricular and inclusive, allowing children to unlock their creative potential by developing their musical identity through a variety of resources and access to a wide range of extra-curricular opportunities.

Over their time at Preston Primary School, children will work with our passionate teachers, listening to a wide range of vocal and instrumental music from all over the world in order to cultivate a genuine love and appreciation for music that will last a lifetime.

The Self-Evaluation Tool - PRIMARY

The tool is split into the following sub-headings and should be seen as a formative, ongoing process:

In the classroom: This section focuses on the statutory requirements of music education, including the taught curriculum and curriculum progression routes across the key stages. It also includes consideration of the space and resources necessary to teach music effectively.

Beyond the classroom: The focus of this section is the provision beyond curriculum music, including co-curricular activities, individual and small group teaching, and performance opportunities.

Leadership and management: The staffing and training of staff is included in this section, including subject leadership and strategic thinking. The School Music Development Plan is a key part of this section.

The community and partnerships: This section considers the role that music plays in the wider community, including how a music department can work in partnership with their Music hub and other stakeholders, including the wider music education sector.

The self-evaluation tool includes the following four levels that outline how schools could build their provision over time:

Focusing: The school is beginning to focus on this area. Action is taken to achieve this by the school, but it is either minimal, not successful, or in its early stages.

Developing: The school is actively trying to develop this area. Several different actions are being taken over a sustained period of time, which are beginning to show progress, even if in their early stages. The actions taken are more developed than in focusing.

Establishing: Over time, the school has established provision that shows successful implementation of this area within the school's music education offer.

Enhancing: Over time, the school has created nationally significant provision that is able to have impact at scale. Schools that identify themselves in this category could be considered for the 'Lead School' role with their Music Hub. The evaluation process places the improvement and enhancement of the school's music education provision at the heart of the school life. New and innovative ways to meet this sub-heading area are in place, or are being developed in the school.

In the classroom	Music is delivered ad hoc and not in every year group, it is not accessible to all.	Music is a timetabled subject, with schemes of work and assessment in place. All students are able to access this curriculum from EYFS to Year 6.	Music is timetabled for at least one hour per week and follows the NC/MMC.	Curriculum goes beyond level of the national curriculum, seeking to address social disadvantage by addressing gaps in knowledge, skills and experiences (i.e., concerts, live events)

Further points for consideration:

Composing and creating music

Creating music is another core tenet of the NC and should be explored from the start of a child's school music education. Teachers may find it useful to consider the details provided by the Model Music Curriculum.

Listening

Listening to music is fundamental to musical understanding, and so is at the heart of the music curriculum. By learning to listen critically, students not only expand their musical horizons but also gain a deeper understand of the context of when a piece of music was written, how it is constructed and the impact it can have on the listener.

ARTS COUNCIL

Teachers should be proactively inclusive in their approach to choosing repertoire for listening and may find it useful to consider the repertoire suggested in the MMC.

Pupil Voice

The inclusion of pupil voice is important to inform planning, repertoire selection and school events.
