

Miss Feltham's TBR Challenge

TBR List

noun

Stands for 'To be Read' and means an ever-growing list of books that you would love to read!

Hello, everyone!

With only one term left of school, we've just got time to squeeze in another book-based challenge for you.

This time, I'm planning a trip to the book shop, and I want to take 5 lucky children with me...but first, I want to see your 'TBR' lists for some inspiration!

If you would like to take part, please collect a challenge sheet from my classroom (Whitebeam). The challenge is split into 3 parts...

1. Tell me about a book that is on your 'To Be Read' list. Why do you want to read it so badly?
2. Tell me about a book that you've read that should be on my 'TBR' list. What makes it so brilliant?
3. Tell me why I should take you to the book shop with me to find your TBR books!

5 winners will be announced in cup assembly on Friday 7th June, and we will go to the book shop on Friday 14th June. Not only will the winners choose a book of their own, but they will also help me choose some new titles for our school library! Please make sure you have given your challenges back to your teacher by Tuesday 4th June.

Good luck!

Miss Feltham.
